

We can try two methods:

1. Using Canva API
2. Making one template and using it every time just changing the content.

Using 1st method:

1. We fill the web form or give the input using webspeech defining or giving some points about the project which we have to make in the template.
2. A system will build the prompt
3. Prompt will be send to api (openrouter, gemini)
4. Api will process the information and provides a json file
5. Later we have to use canva api which will fetch the design templates and api will fill the details and will be exported as pdf or editable link.

Using 2nd method:

We will import one design from the canva and using frontend we will make the same design. Later using the api we will fill the details in it.
